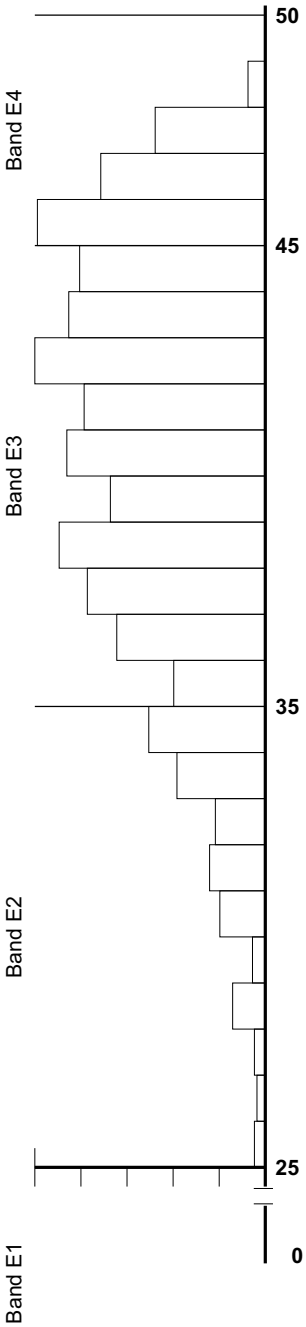
2025 Course Report

History Extension

State Distribution



The typical performance in this band:

50

Demonstrates extensive knowledge and understanding of the nature of history and the factors that shape historical interpretations. Communicates complex and coherent historical argument through referenced texts. Effectively constructs and defends a historical position and effectively challenges other positions. Designs, conducts and presents a historical investigation involving extensive analysis and synthesis of complex historical information and evaluation of a wide range of historical sources.

45

Demonstrates thorough knowledge and understanding of the nature of history and shows an understanding of the factors that shape historical interpretations. Communicates comprehensive and coherent historical argument through referenced texts. Constructs and defends a historical position and attempts to challenge other positions. Designs, conducts and presents a historical investigation involving comprehensive analysis and synthesis of historical information and evaluation of a range of historical sources.

35

Demonstrates sound knowledge and understanding of the nature of history and shows some understanding of the factors that shape historical interpretations. Communicates coherent historical narrative through texts. Describes historical positions and acknowledges other positions. Plans, conducts and presents a historical investigation involving analysis and synthesis of historical information and evaluation of a range of historical sources.

25

Performance reported as Band E1 indicates that the minimum standard expected was not demonstrated.

0

The candidature of this course was 1,777.