~~James Bond~~ Bruce Fond ~~a student from Sydney~~ ~~has interviewed~~ ~~from~~ university of Sydney has interviewed Yee Sam Liow ~~a successful university graduate~~ in the University of Sydney on the 13th October 2015 at 1 pm. ~~a past HSC student from NSW~~ successful community member Fond: Good afternoon, Mr Sam. It is an honour to meet you.

Liow: Good afternoon to you too.

Fond: So Mr ^{Liow} ~~Sam~~, can we hear your opinions on the Living and Working in the Community elective and how it roles ~~in~~ in your success?

Liow: Sure thing! I ~~was~~ ^{was} a student from the NSW HSC course (Higher School Certificate) and I was introduced with the 'Living and Working in the Community' module ~~from~~ from the English as Second Language ~~subject~~ subject. And basically it teaches me all different kinds of texts that are commonly used in community like letters and report. The module actually teaches the students to be physically and mentally prepared for the nature of workplace and the community after school.

Fond: That's very interesting. Can you tell us more about the variety of text?

Liow: Absolutely. The first text I can think of is the job application letter.

- It is a formal text that ~~the opening~~ starts with ~~a salutation~~ senders address, date, and the readers address and followed by the opening of the paragraph ~~which~~ which states the purpose of the letter. The ^{the} body of letter must not contain any harsh language and must put any slangs or contractions. The closing of the paragraph must have a complimentary closing and a signature. The letter is then sent to the companies.

Fond: That's ~~is~~ amazing. Can you share another text with us?

Liow: Of course! The feature article is a text that can found in newspapers and magazines. The opening of the article must have ~~the~~ a title, a good introduction followed a lead. The ~~is~~ informal and formal text of the body paragraph depends on the type of publications.

Fond: What about the language used?

Liow: Well it must used persuasive language and added some slangs to allow the readers to understand the ideas. It is mostly the issues, opinions, and ideas that are expressed by the author.

Fond: Amazing! Can you tell us one more text that you have learned?

Liow: Yes. The other text is speech which is a information that is given to the audience by a speaker. The purpose of the speech is share his or her opinions to the audience. It must start with a introduction and ~~solutions~~ must ~~is~~ speak the body of the speech in a smooth way by adding assertive tone along with some slangs to gain the attention of the audience. Also, ~~the~~ sum up the speech for the conclusion.

Fond: Is there any opinions of yours with success of this module?

Liow: Well to me there is. The ^{'Living and Working in the Community'} module consists a lot of different variety of text which teaches the students to have the skill to encounter the nature of workplace or the community after leaving school. It teaches the students ~~is~~ ~~composing~~ to compose the variety of texts so that they will be more employable ~~is~~ by expanding the knowledge of the working area.

Fond: Thank you so much for sharing your ~~express~~ experience with the students. ~~is~~ We are lucky to hear it from you.

Liow: "My pleasure, Fond."
