

Start here.

the health and the aged care ~~industry~~ industry should responded to the many issues which currently affect the delivery of care by facing what it actually is that's affecting the delivery of care and then stop it from affecting the delivery of care.

One issue that affects the delivery of care is not enough staff and the way to respond to this issue is by making it more recognised more looked at to the public this way we will increase the amount of people who want to study nursing who want to help someone else and this way we won't be understaff and the delivery of care won't be affected by this issue anymore.