

Fact Sheet: Delivery of Certificate II in Hospitality (SIT20207) through the Hospitality Curriculum Framework

HSC curriculum pathway

- Certificate II in Hospitality can be achieved through the Hospitality (240 indicative hours) course.

Holistic unit of competency

- This qualification includes a holistic unit of competency as a core unit which must be achieved for a student to be eligible for the qualification. It must be included in the delivery of the HSC course.
- The holistic unit is SITHIND002A Apply hospitality skills in the workplace.
- This unit of competency requires the collection of evidence for assessment over at least 12 complete service periods.

Inclusion of commercial cookery and catering units

- A maximum of two commercial cookery and catering (SITCCC) units of competency can contribute towards this qualification.
- Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) may deliver more than two commercial cookery and catering (SITCCC) units of competency, as an additional skill set, in order to meet the HSC course requirements. These must be in addition to the units of competency required to meet the qualification packaging rules (refer to your RTO manager for advice).

Meeting HSC course requirements and Training Package qualification rules

- HSC VET course requirements are not identical to the AQF VET qualification packaging rules. To ensure that students can meet both sets of rules, schools/colleges and RTOs need to carefully plan the delivery of courses from the Hospitality Curriculum Framework:
 1. Decide which qualification the students will be enrolled in. This will determine the qualification packaging rules to be met.
 2. Decide which HSC VET course you are offering, for example the 120 or 240 indicative hours course. This will determine the HSC course requirements.
 3. Select the units of competency to be delivered, ensuring that the combination of units meet the HSC course requirements (including compulsory, stream and HSC elective units to meet course HSC indicative hour requirements) and the AQF VET qualification requirements (including core and elective units for the qualification).

Course planning template

- A course planning template has been developed to help teachers ensure course planning meets both the HSC course requirements and the AQF VET qualification packaging rules.
- The template lists the compulsory and stream units of competency for the HSC VET course plus any other core units of competency for the qualification. Remaining HSC VET course and qualification requirements to be met are then outlined. Schools/colleges and RTOs then add the remaining units of competency that will be included in their delivery to meet the course and qualification requirements.
- A range of samples have been developed for this qualification pathway.

Schools and colleges should seek the advice of their RTO manager when planning their course delivery.
