Introduction

This document has been produced for the teachers and candidates of the Stage 6 course in Croatian. It provides comments with regard to responses to the 2003 Higher School Certificate Examination, indicating the quality of candidate responses and highlighting the relative strengths and weaknesses of the candidature.

It is essential for this document to be read in conjunction with the relevant syllabus, the 2003 Higher School Certificate Examination, the Marking Guidelines and other support documents which have been developed by the Board of Studies to assist in the teaching and learning of Croatian.

Oral Examination

Conversation

In general, candidates were able to demonstrate a good knowledge of vocabulary and structures and provide relevant responses to questions posed.

Candidates who demonstrated a higher level of achievement were able to treat topics in depth and to present and justify opinions and comment.

Discussion

Performance in this section of the examination varied in accordance with the candidates’ ability to demonstrate their ability against the assessment criteria.

Teachers and candidates are strongly advised to familiarise themselves with the syllabus requirements which do not specify the delivery of a speech, report or monologue. As in the Conversation, examiners will make an assessment of the candidate based on interaction with the candidate.

In the Discussion, candidates are required to:

- select a topic appropriate for an in-depth discussion with the examiner
- study at least three texts.

The syllabus makes clear that:

In the Discussion, the student will be expected to explore with the examiner(s) the subject of the in-depth study, and refer to the texts studied.

Candidates are using a variety of resources in preparing their in-depth study and these included the Internet, novels, short stories and poetry, articles from books and magazines, as well as interviews and information from the local community. Candidates must be prepared to use these texts to support the discussion rather than merely quoting the title or web address. In the better responses, candidates made specific reference to the texts studied and critiqued them rather than merely referring to them superficially. This is particularly the case where information from the Internet was used.

Candidates who had researched the topic well brought to the discussion a richness of vocabulary and structures not evident where candidates had made only limited or superficial reference to texts.

The best performances were those of candidates who were able to demonstrate their ability to explore issues through texts, to present and discuss information, and to substantiate a point of view.

Written Examination

Section I – Listening and Responding

Part A

General Comments

Most candidates demonstrated a good level of comprehension of the texts.

Candidates generally require further practice in identifying language techniques and explaining their effect. They should also develop their ability to read questions carefully and respond appropriately, using relevant information from the text.

Strengths

In Question 2b some candidates demonstrated their ability to respond in detail with regard to language use.

Weaknesses

Candidates generally require further practice in identifying language techniques and explaining their effect. They should also develop the ability to read questions carefully and respond appropriately, with relevant information supported by the text.

Part B

General Comments

Responses generally showed sound understanding of the content of texts.

More emphasis should be placed on analysing style, purpose, and language structures and features in texts, in addition to listening for the purpose of understanding content. Candidates require further practice in expressing opinions in writing ensuring they provide references to specific details in the text to support their arguments.
Section II – Reading and Responding

General Comments

In Part B, the majority of candidates were able to understand the requirements of the task. However, a number of candidates misunderstood to whom their letter of complaint should be directed. Only a few candidates demonstrated breadth and depth in the treatment of relevant information, ideas and/or opinions.

Candidates should read the requirements of the task carefully and clearly identify the purpose, content and audience. They should respond in the correct text type to all the relevant information in the stimulus provided. While many candidates correctly identified the text type, many still had difficulty with the language and structure of a formal letter.

Strengths

The candidates, who were able to identify the full requirements of the task, showed an extensive knowledge and understanding of vocabulary, used a variety of sentence structures, manipulated language authentically and creatively, and organised information coherently and effectively.

Weaknesses

Some candidates misunderstood the full requirements of the task and addressed the letter to the wrong person. Some candidates also lacked satisfactory knowledge and understanding of vocabulary, syntax and grammar.

Section III – Writing In Croatian

General Comments

The majority of candidates attempted Question 9. There was a full range of responses.

All themes in the syllabus should be covered so that candidates are familiar with the vocabulary. More exercises in grammar and sentence structure are needed to ensure correct usage.

Strengths

Candidates who produced interesting and creative responses demonstrated good control and understanding of the vocabulary necessary to address the topic. They were able to manipulate language authentically and creatively and had good control of grammar and syntax.

Weaknesses

Some candidates had knowledge of the vocabulary required for the task; however, they frequently misspelt words and had difficulties with correct usage of verbs (spelling and negatives), gender and morphology.
