Indigenous health is an on going issue within many different countries, not just Australia.

Programs used to help with health care, ~~an~~ Racism and many different areas of issue.

"Closing the gap" is the most famous of the programs running: "Closing the gap" has shown great drops of deaths as infants, elderly diseases ~~and a bad health~~ all round bad health.

Both Indigenous Australia and The Lakota people of Pine Ridge, Native American people have the same health issues, same kind of education ~~and~~ and child defects but Indigenous Australia have a lower level of violence and crime and mental health teenager committing suicide. Governments trying to rule out racism being a factor in being the reason of why they don't finish school, why they are angry towards whites and why they don't have common health care, ~~the~~

The effectiveness of community health is great showing great results in both Australian and American Indigenous communities
