

Start here.

Indigenous community health initiatives are highly effective in improving their socioeconomic status. ~~THE~~ An Australian Indigenous community includes the Nowra Aboriginal <sup>Community</sup> and an international Indigenous community includes Oglala.

The Nowra Aboriginal Community created headspace for Aboriginals in the area. Also Waminda, a women's health clinic. This provided help for women who encountered sexual assault, domestic violence and many more.

Oglala Community has The Porcupine clinic which helps out women. Also the OST Ambulance Service which could be booked to pick you up 24 hours before hand without a fee.

These two communities provide health initiatives which are highly effective in improving their socioeconomic status.