SECTION II QUESTION 19.

2012 HSC - Aboriginal Studies

Band 2/3

Sample 1 Question 19(a) a). Aboriginal people may not want things to change. Majority of modern day Aborigines are content to take advantage of the benefits from the Government to assist them with education, training, employment, health, housing etc. and make a better life for themselves and their families.

There are others who are unwilling to move forward and would rather dwell on past experiences & grievances, but still accept the benefits from the government and their communities.

Some of the older, traditional people cannot emotionally separate from their tribal community and lose.
