

Start here.

A) There are many ways Aboriginal express their identity today by being apart of a community, showing people what they can do for example, Art work, singing, dancing, becoming an actress, being an Aboriginal teacher, becoming a sports ledgend.

With The Bangarra Dance Company the express their identity by dancing and doing dances that represent their culture and Travel to a lot of different place to perform their cultural ~~dances~~ dances. And to make their people ~~prond~~ proud.

Aboriginal people in Art express their identity by painting pictures that represent their land and families. They also paint anything that is in their culture.