

Start here.

The student would have to go through consultation protocols so he is respected by the person he is viewing and the person he's viewing is respected.

Acknowledging the intellectual property and copyright so it can be done legally and don't get in trouble and respect Aboriginal people.

Aboriginal people are spiritually connected to the land and need to be respected or you may never be allowed back into their group.

Because he's interviewing people and this might involve video of them or a ~~word~~ sound of their voice that you can't use without consent and acknowledgement.