

Question 23 (4 marks)

How might the implementation of Australian land capability classification affect the profitability and sustainability of agricultural systems?

4

With the harsh Australian climate the land here is a hard ~~the~~ thing to understand. If a farmers land has poor quality soil the plants will not grow and the farmers profitability will drop. The sustainability of plants and animals will also be very low, there for resulting in more loss of profits.