

Start here.

story of tom brennan

The process of transition challenges attitudes and beliefs of individuals in the story of Tom Brennan and runaway by delus ft yasmin as both texts have had to transition to build strength to be able to move on through transition challenges the attitudes of individuals and therefore enabling them to move forward. also transitions challenges beliefs of individuals enabling them to grow into better people.

Transitions challenges the attitudes of individuals and therefore enabling them to move forward. evident in the novel 'Story of tom Brennan' as most characters were challenged by their attitudes. mainly Tom and Tess. As Tom had the challenge of running up the hill that seemed impossible for him "that's not a hill, it was a mountain" progressively he became fitter and stronger, his self confidence came near the end of the novel he achieved it "we'd run up the hill without ~~the~~ without realising". Tess had overcome the challenge of her attitude towards life as early in the novel she "stay in bed all day" "like we didn't even know her" - Tom to the transition of "I walked out of the bathroom and mum was dressed, hair and washed. A new beginning as she feels that the ~~only~~ way Daniel is ~~getting better~~ she facing it she has to face it as well.

Both Tom and Tess have had to face the challenges they were put against therefore enabling them to move forward being able to get on with life making it easier for them to transition back into society.

Transitions challenges the attitudes of individuals and therefore enabling them to move forward. evident in runaway by chelvin ft yasmin. as the character in the song "I gotta leave I gotta go theres nothing here for me no more" they have little chance at succeeding where they are the use of a minor tone as it is sad and helps convey they have no more reasoning there "no more" he transitions to "no ~~we~~ the carriage pulls away. entering suburbia a smile came across my face" "the unwinding of an internal rage ^{locked up} like my prison mates ~~locked~~ behind prison gates.

Additional writing space on back page.

use of rhyme ~~and~~ helps convey they are relieved and reached the place where they are able to move forward and live a life they always wanted to.

transitions challenge beliefs of individuals enabling them to grow into better people also evident in 'Story of Tom Brennan' his beliefs At the start of the novel Tom felt imprisonment inside his own body he as he didn't know where/how he wasn't able to pick up that "Daniel Brennan was an accident waiting to happen" "how come the town of Mumbilli Saw it coming and we didn't" he didn't want the rest of the school at Coghill know about his past. Kylie gave a speech about what happened. "At first I was angry" ~~but~~ his first initial reaction but "I didn't want to be mad anymore ---- in a way she released me" he felt relieved, and had his friends to back him up.

~~transitions~~ process of transitions challenges attitudes and beliefs Evident in both ← Tick this box if you have continued this answer in another writing booklet.

Start here.

Story of tom Brennan and runaway boy elton At Yasmin as they both; transitions challenges the attitudes of individuals and therefore enabling them to move forward. Also that transitions challenges beliefs of individuals enabling them to grow into better people.