

- 1 -

Start here. The law is effective in achieving justice for parties involved in relationship breakdown under the Family Law Act 1976. It ensures both parties acquire what they are legally right to obtain when their relationship breaks down. ~~It offers this~~ The government offer tribunal help for these families when dealing with children in the breakdown of a relationship and dividing assets that are owned by both parties.